Sir:

Attached hereto is a clean copy of the claims. The complaint of the Legal Instruments Examiner mentions the underscoring in the claims. The underscoring is appropriate in naming of organisms according the scientific nomenclature. The claims were written as replacement claims in the first place in order to avoid underscoring in amended claims so that there would be no confusion.

It is respectfully asserted that the claims are in compliance with usual scientific terminology relating to organisms as represented in the literature. As such, it is requested that the clean copy of the claims as presented be accepted.

Respectfully submitted,

OFFICIAL
